

through the cooperation of J. J. Straight, Marion County superintendent of schools, and with the aid of the principals of the High schools an effort will be made to X-ray the first and fourth year students of the High schools.

The unit is not scheduled at this time for Mannington but the people of Mannington District and throughout Marion county are invited to avail themselves of the opportunity to be X-rayed without any charge.

The results of the X-ray examinations are confidential and the reports, if suspicious or positive, will be sent to the family physician direct from the State Health Department of Charleston.

The Clinic Committee of the local Tuberculosis Association, with Mrs. F. E. Brown as chairman, has been requested to assume the responsibility of providing seven clerical workers each day while the unit is in operation here.

YOST

the other pamphlet had the following notation for April 7:

"Favorable. You have 24 hours of favorable planetary aspects."

For today, April 8, there was a half warning. It was early this morning that Yost died in State hospital, after he had fired a bullet through his brain yesterday.

Time Bomb Set

Before he left his home yesterday morning on his deadly mission, Yost apparently went to the basement of the house and set the timer on the fire bomb. At 4 o'clock, the house would be set aflame.

He accomplished his mission to the last detail in the office of Morose, but it was the little dog which circumvented his plans back at his home.

As the time drew near for the fire bomb to begin to function, relatives of Yost asked Police Chief John Austin and Sgt. Donald K. West to accompany them to the Yost home, where they planned to feed the dog.

They discovered the house to be afire and they rushed from the dwelling when West discovered the bomb in the basement and assumed that it might explode.

Firemen Volunteer

A call was sent to Central station and Firemen W. J. Morgan, Jr., and Albert Angelelli responded in the city emergency truck. When they learned that a bomb was in the house, a call was sent to Chief Morgan for the pumper.

When Morgan, accompanied by Mayor Albert Robinson, learned of the presence of a bomb in the house, he called for volunteers from among the Second platoon which was present.

All the men responded, including Firemen Paul Sins, John Lobuts, Henry E. Cassady, J. W. Gump and Morgan, Jr. Led by Chief Morgan, Chief Austin and Sgt. West, they entered the building and began fighting the fire. Members of the Grant Town volunteer fire department and other also assisted.

Fireman Sine went to the basement, disconnected the bomb, and poured water on it. Then the police, including State and County police to contest the divorce she was seeking from him.

They know also that at about the same time Yost suddenly quit his job at the mine, where he was considered one of the most valuable men in the plant, and that a day or so later he returned to work, saying he had decided "to stick it out."

The best theory they have yet developed is that some four or five days ago Yost "cracked." He came to the belief that in the divorce proceedings pending against him he not only would lose his wife, but all his belongings as well, including his house, speed boat, automobile, and furnishings, all of which seem to have been owned jointly by them. He felt, police believe, that he was short of money and was faced with the payment of alimony, attorney fees and other costs.

He then decided, they think, that his life had reached a dead-end. He would end it all.

ing one block from the White House.

Hoffman hopes to lay the groundwork for his new agency before the all-important Italian elections, not just 10 days away.

Detailed recommendations for conducting the vast anti-Communist project have been drawn up for Hoffman by the State department and other government agencies. The plans will get Hoffman's early attention, but he is under a commitment to accept them.

The ERP administrator was confer today with Acting Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett regarding the blueprints. He reviewed the program with White House advisers yesterday, shortly after winning unanimous and speedy Senate approval.

Confirmation came without debate or objection.

EX-MAYOR SENDS RED CROSS CHECK

The Red Cross funds appeal was advanced $10 today when a check for that amount was received from Fred T. Wilson, former Fairmont mayor who is now Moose director of three mid-western states.

Miss Hazel Holt, Wilson's secretary when he was in office here, received the check and submitted it to R. T. Cunningham, Red Cross chapter chairman.
